MILE HIGH HOUSING FUND ANNOUNCES NEW OFFICE LOCATION

DENVER - Mile High Housing Fund, a nonprofit organization that provides early-stage, high-risk, low-cost loans in the seven-county metro Denver area, has a new office location. The new address is: 1905 Sherman Street, Suite 325, Denver, CO 80203.

In the past two years MHHF has gone from one full time staff person to three full time staff members and one part time consultant, outgrowing its former location. “Mile High Housing Fund’s new home in the Denver Tower Office Building keeps us close to our constituents and provides the space needed to support our anticipated growth over the next five years,” said Jeff Seifried, Executive Director.

Now in its seventh year of business, MHHF is a $12 million loan fund that invests in affordable housing and other community assets that creates economic opportunity for low-income people and communities. MHHF is capitalized with investments from U.S. Bank, Wells Fargo Bank, Key Bank, the Community Development Financial Institutions Fund of the U.S. Treasury Department, the Enterprise Foundation, the Fannie Mae Foundation, the Colorado Housing and Finance Authority and the cities of Denver, Arvada, Boulder, Englewood, and Lakewood. To date MHHF has made 82 loans totaling more than $28 million and has helped finance more than 2,900 units of affordable housing in the metro area.
